

FIRES DESTROY WITHOUT PATTERN

One house still stands while those around it were destroyed in a random pattern of destruction in Springwood, Australia, brush fires. The fires have caused millions of dollars of damage and taken at least five lives during the past two days within a 50-mile radius of Sydney.

OFFENSIVE ORDERED

VC Says 'Destroy Utterly'

Saigon (AP) — The Viet Cong's command issued orders Friday for a new offensive to "utterly destroy" U.S. and South Vietnamese combat units and pacification teams.

Radio Hanoi said the objective of the offensive was U.S. and South Vietnamese search-and-destroy units that were "destroying our villages and occupying our areas," pacification teams working in rural areas to win peasants over to the Saigon government and South Vietnamese central, district and local government officials.

'Obey Strictly'

"The military high command," the order said, "calls upon all the units of the main forces army, the regional army, the guerrilla forces and the semi-armed units to make certain that the above orders are strictly obeyed in order to obtain greater and more glorious victories for our people."

The order presaged more terrorist attacks on cities, towns and villages that may already have begun.

But despite the VC order, the South Vietnamese government released a total of 140 Viet Cong prisoners Saturday in Da Nang, Pleiku and Saigon as part of its national reconciliation program. Authorities said it was the largest such action since the beginning of the war.

Infiltrate

More than 100 Viet Cong infiltrated Phuoc Binh, a district headquarters 70 miles north of Saigon, at dawn Friday and opened fire. Vietnamese troops drove off the guerrillas but not until six government soldiers were killed and three wounded. Six civilians also were wounded.

In the Mekong Delta, 108 miles southwest of Saigon, regional forces drove off another enemy force that tried to infiltrate a government relocation hamlet. Reports Saturday said enemy casualties were unknown and government casualties were light.

One light shelling was reported. South Vietnamese spokesman said four mortar rounds hit Tay Ninh city shortly before Friday midnight, but caused no casualties.

In fighting along the Cambodian border, U.S. forces reported killing 78 North Vietnamese Friday, bringing to 525 the number of enemy troops reported killed north and west of Saigon during the week.

The battle broke out during a sweep of a border area 85 miles north of Saigon by a mechanized element of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division.

German Defense Chief Asks For More Money

New York Times Service

Bonn — Warning of a sharply increased Soviet military threat, West German Defense Minister Gerhard Schroeder asked the Bundestag Friday for an extra $625 million in defense funds for the next four years.

The money, he told the parliament, would be used to buy frigates, submarines, helicopters, artillery, and anti-aircraft guns. It would also be used to add 10,000 soldiers to the 450,000-man army.

The addition of the funds beginning next year to the established five-year, middle-term budget would raise the 1969 defense expenditures from $4.7 billion to about $4.8 billion.

$5.5 Billion In 1972

The 1972 military budget would be about $5.5 billion instead of the envisioned $5.2 billion. The 1968 military budget, which will not be affected, stands just over $4.5 billion.

The Soviet-led occupation of Czechoslovakia was not an isolated incident, Schroeder warned the Bundestag delegates.

"The strengthening of the Soviet naval striking force in the Mediterranean, the claim of the Soviet Union to be recognized as a Mediterranean power, their open interference in the Middle East conflict must be taken as signs of an expansive power politics," he said.

Norwegian Border

"The unmistakable activity of the Soviet navy in the North Sea and on the world's oceans, like the land maneuvers along the Soviet-Norwegian border, aim in the same direction," he declared.

He acknowledged — but quickly passed over — the "great efforts" by the West to reach accommodations with Moscow, as emphasized earlier in the day by Vice Chancellor and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt.

Schroeder, who is also the powerful Christian Democratic Party's candidate for federal president in next year's elections, added that the concept of a warning time for an enemy attack "is less valid today than ever."

In contrast to the defense minister, Brandt stressed the need for conciliation, both between Bonn and its allies and Bonn and its Communist neighbors.

Model Legislature Considers 2 Bills Aimed At Crime, Riots

The Model Legislature of the Nebraska YMCA Youth in Government Friday gave first round approval to two bills aimed at crime and riot control.

Some 180 high school students from across the state are participating in the 18th annual session at the Statehouse. The session ends Saturday.

During Friday's session, the Model Legislature gave unanimous approval to a measure requiring an annual one-week training session for all law enforcement officers and boosting law enforcement salaries by 10%.

A second measure would allow police "to use the amount of force they deem necessary" to protect themselves, firemen and private property during a riot or civil disobedience.

Concerned with the need for new jobs and new industry in the state, the teen-age senators also proposed a tax break for new industry locating in the state.

The bill would cut in half the state's two per cent corporate income tax for the new industry during the first ten years. The measure advanced on a 48-47 vote after an amendment striking provisions for "free" industrial tracts.

Some 38 bills were being considered, but one-fourth of those were axed by committees.

Subject matter range includes a "lottery system" for the federal military selective service act, legalized abortion, a teen-age jury system for juvenile crimes, and sales tax exemption for the YMCA and YWCA.

Richard Brown, a 17-year-old senior at Omaha North High School, was elected youth governor of Nebraska during the opening session.

Peggy Ford, 17-year-old senior at Norfolk High School, was elected lieutenant governor, and James Branigan, 17, of North Platte High School, was elected speaker of the legislature.

Brown, who was a senator at the 1967 session, is an honor student and a two-year letterman in swimming.

The Youth in Government program, sponsored by the YMCA, brings together high school students from across the state to get first hand experience in state government.

In addition to YMCA sponsors, a number of state senators and staff of the Legislative Council assist in the two-day program.

THE DAY JFK WAS SHOT:

Air Force One Carried 2 Groups

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth installment of the exclusive serialization of Jim Bishop's book, The Day JFK Was Shot.)

BY JIM BISHOP
Outside of Trauma One, Roy Kellerman waited with the death certificate. A stranger approached Kellerman, introduced himself as Dr. Earl Rose, and said, "There has been a homicide. We will take the body for an autopsy."

At this moment, Dr. Burkley approached, and Kellerman told him, "Doctor, this man is from some health unit in town. He tells me we can't remove this body." Burkley was instantly enraged. He shouted: "We are removing it."

Rose shook his head negatively. "This happened in Dallas County," he said. "Under the law, an autopsy must be performed." The shouting multiplied, with Kenny O'Donnell and Larry O'Brien joining in.

Rose went to telephone, and soon produced a judge, Theron Ward. Roy Kellerman appealed meekly. "Your Honor, we're asking for a waiver here because..."

Judge Ward said sadly, "I can't help you out."

"You can't break the chain of evidence," Dr. Rose repeated with finality. "The autopsy will be performed here." "All right," said Kellerman. Out of the side of his eye, he had seen the door of Trauma One open, the casket being pushed into the corridor.

The medical examiner saw it. Jumped ahead of it, standing in the way, shouting: "We can't release it! A violent death requires a post-mortem!" A policeman wearing a helmet and a revolver now stood with Rose and Judge Ward. The policeman said, "These people say you can't go."

Secret Service men began to form in front of the casket and down the sides. The ultimatum had been rejected. William Greer, with the bags containing the President's clothing, walked through the cop and medical examiner. Dr. Rose stood his ground. So did the policeman. It seemed as though they would be run over by a casket.

Kellerman ran back and beckoned David Powers to

Queen Mary To Be Fitted With Falsies

Los Angeles (AP) — The Queen Mary is getting falsies. Workmen have pulled off two of her stacks and are stripping out interior smokepipes and ducting — along with tons of other lower-deck machinery.

The red and black smokestacks will go back on as non-functioning fakes so the gracious lady will retain her three-stack shape as a shorebound hotel-museum at Long Beach.

Youths Arrested For Glue Sniffing

Three youths were arrested by the police Friday for glue sniffing. Two boys, one 14 and the other 15, were released to their parents to appear later in juvenile court, and another boy, 19, was held in jail.

They were observed by officers on routine patrol in the Municipal Pool area about 3 p.m., according to the police.

Three plastic bags containing glue were found near them and glue was on their faces, police sources reported.

U.S. Cautious About Holiday Truce Subject

Washington (AP) — U.S. authorities are beginning to consider the possibilities of military truces in Vietnam for the holiday season but as yet are making no predictions on the outcome.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Friday that undoubtedly thought will be given to the subject, but "some of the past experiences have not been encouraging."

This was a reference to the Buddhist New Year truce last Jan. 31 which served as the kick-off for the big North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Tet offensive against South Vietnam's cities and towns.

Now, American officials say, the situation is different because of the expanded peace talks scheduled to begin soon in Paris.

"We cannot predict what stand the South Vietnam government will take," one responsible official said. "The United States will consult extremely closely with Saigon and we would want to see how things are at the time before we predict how we will react."

News Summary

(c) New York Times News Service

Paris — The United States delegation to the Vietnam talks said that its chief, W. Averell Harriman, would fly to Washington Sunday and that the enlarged peace talks would not get underway before his return late next week. (Another story on Page 2.)

Stronger Military Sought

Bonn — West German Defense Minister Gerhard Schroeder asked the Bundestag for an extra 2.5 billion marks ($625 million) to buy submarines, helicopters, anti-aircraft guns and add 10,000 soldiers to the army. (More on Page 1).

Romania To Allow Maneuvers

Washington — Romania, under strong pressure from the Soviet Union, reportedly has agreed to let the Warsaw Pact Powers hold military maneuvers on its soil.

Liberalization Said Alive

Prague — Three months after the invasion, Czechoslovakia has not abandoned its struggle for liberalization. "The reports of our death are vastly exaggerated," a Prague University professor said.

$60 Million Reported Saved

San Antonio — Charles Zwick, director of the Federal Budget Bureau, told President Johnson that by not filling 23,563 government jobs he had saved $60 million. (More on Page 2).

Nixon, Kissinger Confer

New York — President-elect Nixon met in his Hotel Pierre headquarters with Henry A. Kissinger, the Harvard professor who advises Nelson A. Rockefeller on foreign affairs, for the third time in five days. (More on Page 2).

Washington — President Johnson is trying to decide what to do with left-over ideas from his administration. Some of his aides suggest leaving to Nixon the four or five dozen extensive reports on problems such as air pollution and crime. But the reports will probably end up on the shelves of the Johnson presidential library at the University of Texas.

State Of Emergency Declared

Newark, N.J. — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio declared a state of emergency when nearly three-fourths of his police force and most of his firemen went on sick call strike to press demands for a pay increase. (More on Page 2).

Mine Will Be Sealed; 78 Given Up For Dead

Mannington, W. Va. (UPI) — Seventy-eight men were given up for dead Friday night and work began immediately to seal up the coal mine that has become their temporary tomb.

Joyn Corcoran, president of Consolidation Coal Co., told the miners' families that everything humanly possible had been done and there was no hope the men had survived the inferno that raged 700 feet underground since Nov. 20.

The disaster was the worst in the United States since Dec. 21, 1951, when 119 miners were killed in an explosion at Frankfort, Ill.

In Church Corcoran delivered the message to the families in the United Methodist Church, a little red-brick building adjoining the mine property. He then told newsmen of the decision in the offices of Consolidation's Mountaineer Division in nearby Monongah, where a coal mine explosion killed 361 miners Dec. 6, 1907. But Mrs. Hartzell Mayle, mother of 16 children whose husband was trapped in the mine, said she got the news on the radio.

Corcoran said, "It was terribly difficult (for them) to accept the fact that all hope is gone. But being the kind of people they are, they had to accept it."

Corcoran described them as "very brave, very courageous and very knowledgeable about the situation."

Second For Some

For some, it was the second time in 14 years they had to endure the loss of a loved one. Sixteen men died in the same mine, Mannington No. 9, in an explosion Nov. 13, 1954. The mine was sealed for three months then.

This time tragedy struck Nov. 20 when a huge explosion shook the seven-mile-long mine, one of the largest in the northern West Virginia coal fields.

Ninety-nine men were in the mine at the time, but 21 escaped alive, barely hurt.

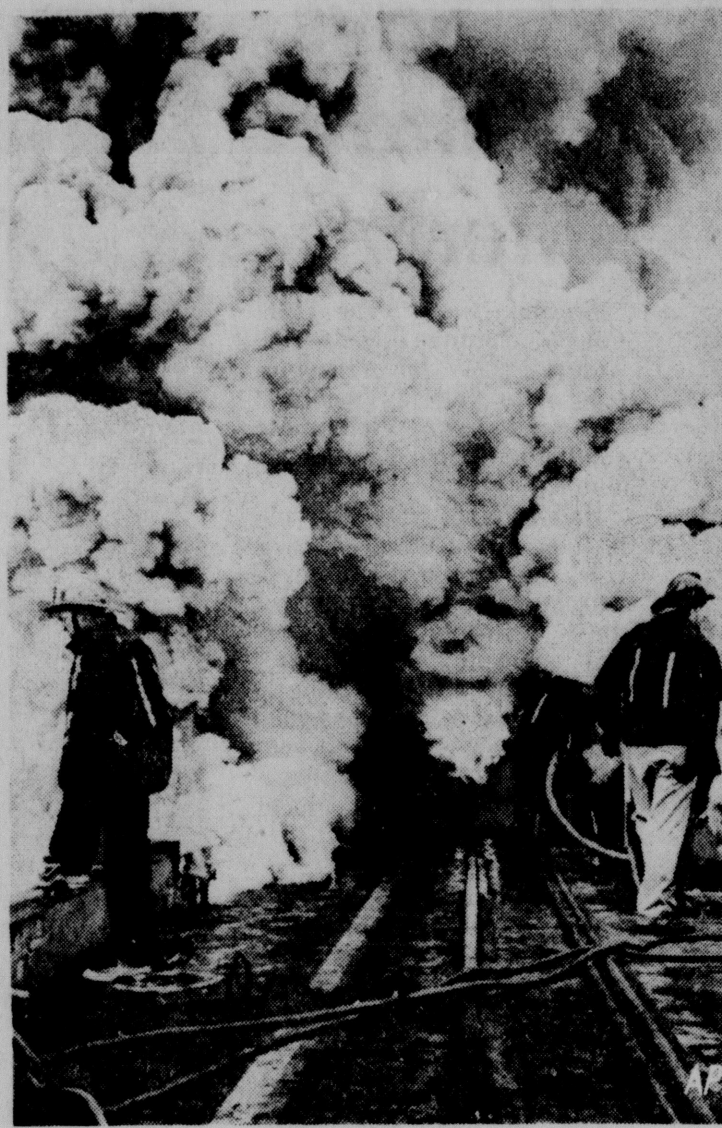

To Smother Fires

Corcoran said the sealing — cutting off oxygen that fed the fire which in turn spawned further explosions, carbon monoxide and methane gas — was to begin Friday night. The mine probably will remain sealed for three months.

At that time, rescue crews will begin a search for bodies.

Sixteen "major" and 12 "minor" explosions, accompanied by fire which belched flames and smoke from its five portals, rocked the mine in the last 10 days.

Tests taken through bore holes drilled from the surface showed the air could not support human life. Rescue teams ventured into the mine only once — last Sunday night — and found nothing. The fire, gas and threat of more explosions precluded any other entry.

FIRE 'TOUGHEST' EVER

Seattle Fire Chief Gordon Vickery described a stubborn fire that burned for more than 12 hours under a pier in a local dockyard as "Seattle's toughest fire." At least 28 firemen suffered smoke inhalation in the blaze, which claimed one life and caused upwards of $250,000 damage.

Nixon Envoy Scranton Seeking Mideast View

New York (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has called on the heads of state in six Middle East nations to give a "full and frank exposition" of their views to his special emissary, former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Nixon confirmed Friday that he has asked Scranton to undertake a fact-finding, "reportorial" tour of the Middle East next week, similar to the trip he made to Western Europe for Nixon in October.

Scranton's schedule calls for him to see heads of state and governmental leaders in Israel, the United Arab Republic, Iran, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Jordan. The diplomatic message to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. was transmitted via the Spanish Embassy.

The president-elect said during his campaign that he favors American arms support to Israel, and said that if the sale of Phantom jets to Israel is necessary for Israel to maintain military superiority in the Middle East, the sale should be made.

Nixon said he favored such action in order to maintain stability in the area.

Another focus of speculation Friday was Dr. Henry Kissinger of Harvard University, a specialist in foreign affairs and national security, who appeared at the Nixon transition headquarters at the Pierre Hotel for the third time.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press spokesman, said Kissinger talked with aides to the president-elect, including designee White House assistant Bryce N. Harlow and John N. Mitchell, who was Nixon's general campaign manager.

Trade Shows Deficit Again

Washington (AP) — The United States lost out again during October, for the fourth month this year, in its continuing struggle to export more than it imports.

The trade deficit for the month was $63.2 million, the Commerce Department reported Friday. This contrasted with a $282 million surplus in September when both exports and imports reached record highs.

Hanoi Accuses U.S. Of Bombing North

Paris (AP) — North Vietnam accused the United States Friday of staging bombing attacks on its territory Thursday and said it was the third such incident in as many days. There was no U.S. confirmation.

U.S. officials said they knew of no such attack. It was possible the North Vietnamese were putting out the story after the downing of a reconnaissance plane or planes over the North and a subsequent rescue operation but they denied this.

A U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane and its armed Phantom jet escort were downed by enemy fire over the North Monday. The U.S. Command in Saigon said other U.S. planes fired at ground targets to keep the North Vietnamese from capturing the crew. The effort failed and the four crewmen aboard the planes were listed as missing. Hanoi said two were seized.

Reconnaissance Right After the end of all attacks on North Vietnam Nov. 1, the United States maintained the right to continue reconnaissance flights to detect any enemy buildups as a result of the halt. It also said the planes could fly with armed escort and that there would be no hesitancy in going to the rescue of downed crewmen.

North Vietnam has disrupted these rights, and in its latest statement demanded an end of "acts of war."

Federal Payroll Trimmed More Than Solons Ordered

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson got word Friday the government is doing better than Congress demanded in trimming the federal payroll.

In July, August and September, civilian jobs in departments and agencies of the executive branch dropped 104,613 — from 3,020,427 to 2,915,814. The consequent saving is about $60 million. And the rollback is still on.

This was the word from Budget Director Charles Zwick in a memorandum to the President. It was released by the Texas White House.

Zwick told Johnson fulltime jobs in the three-month period declined by 23,563, with 92,000 more to go before hitting the figure decreed by Congress. He estimated this will take 18 more months.

Congress tied its demand for a slash in federal payrolls to its approval of a 10%, $10-billion tax increase. Later, it modified its action to require a reduction of fulltime employment by about 115,000 instead of 250,000.

The 23,563 cut in this category was 3,700 more than the law required in the quarter-year ended Sept. 30, Zwick said.

Newark Firemen Show Up, Shift Of Police 'Trickling In'

Newark, N.J. (AP) — A full complement of firemen reported for duty while policemen were "trickling in" Friday night after a court injunction was issued barring their sick-call strike to dramatize demands for higher salaries.

A "selective" midnight to 6 a.m. curfew would be in effect, primarily aimed at large crowds, a city spokesman said.

Mayor Hugh Addonizio had imposed the curfew after declaring a "state of emergency" in the afternoon when 300 policemen and 200 firemen failed to report for duty.

A full shift of 180 firemen reported for the 8 p.m. shift, but only 68 of the 200 regular policemen showed up. "We are meeting some resistance from the police, but they are trickling in," the spokesman said.

Despite the absence of policemen, the spokesman said there has been less crime of violence than usual. There were the usual amount of fire alarms.

'Saw Enough'

"The people saw enough of violence in 1967, certainly they don't want anymore," the spokesman said referring to the racial riots.

Meanwhile, nearly 200 Essex County sheriff's deputies, called in to fill the void by the absent policemen, will continue to patrol the streets in New Jersey's largest city.

The sick-call, aimed at dramatizing demands for higher salaries, began at 8 a.m., when the shifts of policemen and firemen changed.

Fire Director John Caulfield warned that "if any big fires develop, we will be in deep trouble." Caulfield said that unless the situation improves, Newark would have to rely on Civil Defense units and fire departments from other communities. He said 40 to 80 fires a night are "not unusual."

The mayor said 50% of the firemen and policemen who "should be on duty at this moment are not at their posts." Normally, about 300 policemen and 200 firemen are assigned the day shifts. The mayor termed the sick-call an action which "could not be condemned strongly enough."

He ordered the suspension of all liquor sales. Similar action was taken during minor racial unrest earlier this year and during the 1967 riot which left 26 persons dead, hundreds injured and more than $10 million in damage.

The police and firemen are seeking maximum annual salaries of $10,500, a pay hike of about $2,500 per year. City officials, including the mayor and governor, support their demands but contend the money is not available.

More 'Berets' Slated For Germany

Washington (AP) — The United States probably will send to Germany early next year several units of the Green Berets, the special forces trained in counterinsurgency and guerrilla warfare, a authoritative sources reported Friday.

There is no firm decision as yet. But military and diplomatic authorities in Washington agree that such a step, described by one source as "the strongest political signal," should be made part of the U.S. response to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Dispatching the Green Berets would be in addition to returning two brigades of Army troops and four squadrons of jet fighters to air squadrons, withdrawn from Europe in 1967 and 1968, are expected to be flown to Germany some time in January or February, instead of in the second half of the coming year as originally planned.

The brigades and planes were withdrawn in accordance with an agreement with Germany and Britain in 1967 permitting the rotation of the three brigades of the 24th Infantry Division and four of the nine squadrons of tactical fighter planes. Officially the move was called redeployment and the forces remained committed to NATO.

Currently most Green Berets are in Vietnam, and with a few attached to American forces in West Berlin.

Maneuvers in Germany involving the two redeployed brigades and the four squadrons were brought forward by about six months to give weight to NATO's warning to the Soviets that the Atlantic Alliance cannot remain indifferent to developments in the Moscow orbit.

These developments are not restricted to the aggression against Czechoslovakia.

The other developments include: — Increasing Soviet presence in the Mediterranean;

— Greater Soviet activity both on land and on sea around the North Cape where Norway, a NATO member, has a common border with the Soviet Union;

— Conspicuous increases in the defense budgets of the Eastern European Communist countries coupled with improved quality of military equipment and better integration of the Warsaw Pact forces; and — Establishment of Soviet naval infantry, the Russian version of marines.

Only Three Soviet Divisions Said Still In Czechoslovakia

Washington (AP) — The Soviet Union has pulled all but three of its army divisions out of Czechoslovakia, U.S. sources said Friday.

These sources estimated the Soviet occupying force remaining in Czechoslovakia at between 45,000 and 50,000 men, including some support troops.

At the height of the Czech crisis, American military authorities said the Soviet Union had moved 17 divisions into Czechoslovakia to suppress a liberalizing trend.

Counting relatively small forces from four satellite countries, U.S. intelligence specialists calculated the Warsaw Pact nations had up to 250,000 troops in Czechoslovakia last September.

Czech officials have claimed that up to 600,000 Warsaw Pact troops occupied their country after the invasion in August.

Holiday Deaths Climb To Four

By The Associated Press
Four persons have been killed in traffic mishaps on Nebraska highways over the Thanksgiving holiday period.

The victims were Nancy Jo Barber, 18, of Cambridge; Philip Betancur, 17, of rural Scottsbluff; Melvin Johnson, 18, of Allen and Gilbert S. Mousel, 41, of Juniata.

Miss Barber died in a Cambridge hospital Friday of injuries suffered Thursday in a one-car accident. She was a passenger in a car driven by Paul E. Newberry, 21, of Indiana.

The car failed to make a left turn on a county road southwest of Cambridge and struck a dirt embankment. Newberry and the woman's 3-year-old brother, John David Barber, were hospitalized.

State Trooper Marvin Brill said Betancur was killed Friday morning on a county road 5 1/2 miles northwest of Scottsbluff. He was steering a

The legal move was completed with the filing of the transcript from the Hall County Court preliminary hearing in the district court clerk's office.

Davis had been ordered bound over to District Court on Nov. 14 by Hall County Judge Edward Dixon.

Summary of Conditions

A high pressure area is centered over the central portion of Oklahoma with troughing taking place along the eastern slope of the central and northern Rockies. The high will move into the Ohio Valley by Saturday evening with the trough showing little movement.

With the trough to the west and the high moving further away from the Nebraska-Iowa area, temperatures will show a tractor which was being pulled by a pickup truck driven by his 18-year-old brother, Tony.

Tractor Flipped

Tony Betancur said he noticed his brother slump at the wheel just as the tractor went into a skid and flipped.

The youth was thrown against the back of the pickup and was pinned between the vehicles.

Authorities said Johnson, a freshman at Wayne State College, was killed Thursday night when the car in which he was riding failed to make a turn off Nebraska 12 at its junction with Nebraska 9 south of Ponca.

Two other occupants of the car suffered bruises.

Mousel, an employee of the Farmers Union Co-op Gas and Oil Co. of Juniata, died in a two-truck collision at the Juniata intersection with U.S. 6 Friday.

One Escaped Injury

Mousel's vehicle was in collision with a cattle truck driven by Richard Lutjeharms, 21, of Republican City. Lutjeharms escaped injury.

The deaths raised Nebraska's 1968 traffic fatality toll to 418, compared with 398 at this time last year.

Investigation Done

Berlin (UPI) — The West Berlin post office announced the completion of a two-year investigation into the case of postal workers who illegally opened packages containing photos of nude girls. Thirteen men were fined up to four weeks salary and transferred to other departments.

Wyldes Given 2-Term Term In County Jail

Omaha (AP) — Lonnie Eugene Wyldes, 21, who was involved in one of two murders by Brian Joseph Adams, was sentenced Friday to two years in County Jail.

Adams, 19, has been convicted and is serving two life sentences for murder.

District Judge Rudolph Tesar said if it hadn't been for Wyldes, Adams might not have been caught. Wyldes was originally charged with murder but was allowed to plead guilty to being an accessory after the fact.

Wyldes was charged in connection with the April 27, 1967, slaying of Ervin L. Reimers, 55, a service station attendant. He sat in the car while Adams fired two rifle shots into the station. One struck the victim.

Told Parents

Assistant Public Defender Bennett Hornstein told Judge Tesar Wyldes told his parents about the incident after learning that Adams planned to rob a store two days after the Reimers slaying. The parents called police.

Adams pleaded guilty to the Reimers killing and asked that his sentence be handed down by the court. Then presiding Judge James P. O'Brien appointed him, Judge Tesar and Judge James C. Burke to decide the penalty, then dismissed the panel and handed down the life sentence himself.

Adams also is serving a life sentence for the slaying of another service station attendant in Bellevue, killed a few days before the Reimers slaying.

Paul Goodrich Is Dead At 13; Services Monday

Hastings — Paul Campbell Goodrich, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Goodrich of Hastings, died Thursday at the age of 13. Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at First Presbyterian Church here.

A native of Lincoln, Paul lived most of his life in Hastings. He was an eighth grade student at Hastings Junior High School and a member of honor band and Boy Scout Troop 200.

U.S. Will Get Man On Moon In '70, Predicts Astronaut In Speech Here

By DAN LOOKER
Star Staff Writer

The United States will probably meet its goal of landing a man on the moon by 1970, an astronaut, Lt. Cmdr. Ron Evans of the U.S. Navy, told about 200 delegates to the model legislature of the Youth in Government Program sponsored by the YMCA Friday night.

Speaking at the model legislature "Governor's Banquet," Evans, who is currently one of 19 U.S. Astronauts and who was a member of the back-up crew for the first manned Apollo flight, described the Apollo program.

After last year's three unmanned Apollo test flights "we are now entering a period of greatly increased activity," Evans said.

That occurred when the first manned Apollo flight, Apollo 7, was made in October, he explained. "The main mission of that flight was to check out the command and service modules," he said.

The 10.6-day flight was "a little longer than an actual lunar mission," Evans added.

Orbit Planned

The next flight, Apollo 8, is planned to orbit the moon 10 times and is scheduled for December 21, he continued.

That date was picked, Evans said, because the moon is in the best position and because the lighting for photographing possible landing sites is best at that time.

The flight is "open-ended," Evans explained, and if the

Bunker Assesses Thieu's Decision

Saigon — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said Friday night that President Nguyen Van Thieu's decision to attend the Paris negotiations showed the world that the South Vietnamese were "prepared to join in the search for peace."

Bunker said the decision served notice that the Republic of Vietnam "is strong and confident and that it is prepared to seek its goals at the conference table as well as on the battlefield."

primary mission of a moon flight could not be made, then other secondary flights could be.

At least two more Apollo flights are scheduled before a lunar landing, he said. An Apollo 9 flight will be an earth-orbital flight during which the Lunar module (the craft that will actually carry two Astronauts to the moon's surface) will be tested, and an Apollo 10 flight will be a lunar-orbital mission on which the lunar module will orbit to within 50,000 feet of the moon's surface.

Evans said that the Apollo program is flexible and that if one thing cannot be accomplished on one mission it can be picked up on the next flight.

Could Stay A Day

When the actual moon landing is made, he continued, the astronauts could stay on the moon as long as 18 to 24 hours. They would have portable life-support systems which would allow them to explore the moon in 3-hour stretches. They would perform some experiments and gather rock samples before returning to the command module and to earth.

Evans said that NASA has two major objectives after a manned landing on the moon. One is an extended stay on the moon's surface. The other is the use of a third stage of a Saturn V for an orbiting laboratory and observatory. The first stay in the laboratory would last 28 days.

Evans also cited some of the benefits people have derived from the manned space flight program. They include everything from transistors and teflon frying pans to accurate five-day weather forecasts and communication and navigation satellites.

Eighty-four nations are using the knowledge gained from the space program, Evans added.

Evans also showed films taken by an automatic camera on the unmanned Apollo 4 flight and films taken by the astronauts who were on the Apollo 7 flight.

Volunteer Santas Receive Simple Final Instructions

New York (AP) — The work rules the boss explained were simple.

Just avoid eating garlic or onions, keep your whiskers straight, don't promise the kids anything, and don't lean on your chimney.

"Now," he added, "let's have a big yo-ho-ho."

With a chorus of yo-ho-ho's and much bell ringing, 20 red-robed, white-bearded Volunteers of America Santa Clauses were off to their stations outside department stores to begin their seasonal fund-collecting for the needy.

Stamps Forbidden

Tel Aviv (AP) — The Soviet Union has returned letters from Israel bearing 1968 Jewish holiday stamps. Some carry a note saying, "Returned — forbidden stamps." The holiday stamps portray the Tomb of Abasalom, Davis's Tower and other Jerusalem holy sites.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Paris peace talks could turn out to be one of the comedy hits of the year. As things now stand, there will be four delegations at the talks when they resume shortly. Attending will be representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front.

From Saigon, the South Vietnamese say they will not talk to the NLF and from Hanoi the North Vietnamese have replied that they will not talk to Saigon. It is unclear whether the NLF will talk with Saigon. This leaves two out of the four parties who presumably will talk to anybody. We can just see them in the role of interpreter or spokesman. It will be like the old four-way struggles that take place on the movie screen.

The talks will hardly open before Saigon or the NLF insult the other one. The insulted party will not be able to stand that so will call upon a second party to inform their enemy what they think of him.

"Will you please tell the delegate from the NLF," the Saigon man will say, "that we consider his conclusion to be ridiculous."

The U.S. representative will say to the NLF: "Saigon wants you to know it thinks your position is ridiculous."

To which, the NLF will respond to the U.S.: "Will you kindly inform Saigon that its position is contributing to a breakdown of the objectives we are seeking here."

About this time, Hanoi is getting excited, too. "And tell Saigon for us," it says to the U.S., "that unless it comes around to our way of thinking, we intend to run it out of all of Asia."

At this point, the U.S. becomes confused. It forgets what it was supposed to tell Saigon from the NLF and asks for a reiteration of that position.

This embarrasses the NLF because in the heat of the argument and during its applause for the statement by Hanoi, it has forgotten what it told the U.S. to say to the Saigon representatives.

"Just tell 'em the same thing goes double for us," says the NLF with a sneer on its face.

"The NLF says the same thing goes double for them," the U.S. tells Saigon.

"Just let 'em try it," retorts Saigon but it forgets to tell the U.S. to tell it to the NLF and Hanoi.

And before the U.S. can act as intermediary, Hanoi and the NLF are replying directly to Saigon, but in fair-party language.

"We have tried to get along here," shouts an NLF delegate, "and we have tried to fight a good clean war but those Saigon looks are making it impossible for us to do the right thing. Well, the next village chief we get a chance to murder will not be so lucky!"

Seeing that things are getting out of hand, the U.S. steps in with an admonition for everyone to remember that these are supposed to be peace talks, not war games.

This causes Hanoi to remember that it has forgotten its dignity so it, too, agrees that the talks should get on to the substantive issues of peace.

"O.K.," says Saigon to the U.S., "tell the NLF and Hanoi that if they just pack up and leave our country, the war will be over. We have decided not to demand any indemnities and will provide amnesty for any political leftovers who want to stay over in the South."

"Your country?" queries Hanoi. "How can we ever settle anything if you don't even know whom the country belongs to?"

"It seems to us," says the U.S., "that perhaps we might get further if all of us recognized the presence here of everyone else."

Saigon and the NLF shake their heads negatively, both claiming they would not sit down with "those dogs" under any circumstances.

The only thing on which final agreement is reached is the press release. It reads: "In a spirit of restraint and understanding, the four delegations have made limited progress toward peace today and the talks will be resumed next Wednesday."

'It Was A Question Of Devaluing Either You Or The Franc!'

Positive Federal Aid

This autumn marks the 10th anniversary of the National Defense Education Act, America's instant response to the shock of Sputnik.

How well has the program done? Ten years ago the U.S. feared it had fallen to second place in the world. Today, we are the acknowledged world leader in producing trained, highly skilled manpower through educational enterprises. A great deal of the credit belongs to NDEA.

Originally intended to augment national security through training in science, mathematics and foreign languages, NDEA has since been expanded to cover virtually all areas of education through June of 1968, expenditures were $2.8 billion. Accomplishments include the lending of more than $1.3 billion in low-interest loans to more than 1.5 million needy students.

The repayment record on these loans is tremendous. Few students graduate and then fail to repay the money.

In addition, nearly 27,000 fellowships have been awarded to graduate students, a barometer of the increased importance of post-graduation work. And grants to the states have helped increase the number of counselors in high schools from 12,000 to 44,000.

The list of NDEA accomplishments is a long one. But the point is that federal money, properly spent and administered, can be a positive force, not a negative one, as the enemies of (to use the catch phrase) federal aid so often would have us believe.

Hunting Revenue Slumps

The State Game Commission has reported a slump this year in hunting permits and upland game bird stamps. Fewer of the permits and stamps are being sold than was anticipated. Thus, the commission is realizing less income, despite the fact that it increased slightly the cost of permits and stamps and had anticipated an increase in income.

Commission Deputy Director Willard Barbee indicated he thought the slump might be a matter of personal economizing, that may have something to do with it but other factors are involved, too.

For one thing, the Game Commission has consistently said there are more pheasants in Nebraska than is the case. The past two years, for instance, have been poor pheasant hunting periods in Nebraska. The current year seems to be a good one but some people were undoubtedly discouraged in 1967 and 1968.

Of growing importance is the matter of where you can hunt. More and more land is being posted against hunting and a charge for the privilege of hunting seems to be coming into vogue.

When you go out hunting and can find no place to hunt, this discourages you. Yes, you can and should ask permission to hunt but this can be a headache and even dangerous. You often cannot find the owner of land on which you want to hunt and some farm yards are inhabited with dogs that appear eager to take a leg off you.

The fact is that if the commission could improve farm-city relations for hunting purposes, the average hunter would be willing to pay still more than he is shelling out for permits and stamps. With a good supply of game and plenty of areas to hunt, the commission will run into very few arguments based on economics.

New Mood Of Receptiveness Through Europe; Speculation On Nixon Reaction To Overtures

WASHINGTON — The dominant impression of a long journey out through the European capitals to Moscow and back is that the Nixon administration is coming to power precisely when conditions may be more favorable to new initiatives in world politics.

The consequences of past mistakes are now beginning to be felt and even admitted in most of the major capitals. Washington, Moscow, and Peking all have serious internal problems and are now talking at least about negotiations to reduce the risks and costs of their present differences.

The money crisis is dividing the Western nations for the moment, but it is also forcing them to recognize their interdependence and compelling them to hurry along the process of world monetary reform.

Moscow's invasion of Czechoslovakia has split the Communist parties of the world and started another move for stiffening the defenses of the North Atlantic alliance. This is obviously troubling Moscow. The crises in the Middle East and in Vietnam may have reached the point where more profitable conversations may be possible. So there is plenty to talk about.

This, at the moment, is the important thing about the new administration in Washington, for it provides the excuse for a reappraisal both here and in the other major capitals of policies that have been increasing world tensions over the past two or three years.

It is interesting that communist China, which has been defiantly belligerent toward the United States in recent years and is still opposing the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, was the first of the big powers to come forward with a specific proposal for talks with the Nixon administration in Warsaw on Feb. 20.

Similarly, officials in Moscow who were critical and even scornful of Nixon until he was elected president, are now talking about forgetting the past and getting down to negotiations on the control of military arms. Even President de Gaulle has been forced to recognize that all is not well with the franc or even with France, so there must be something new in the world.

The question is whether this impression of new diplomatic opportunities is accurate, and if so, what Nixon is likely to do about it.

One point is fairly clear: U.S. ambassadors in Europe are generally fairly hopeful that we are entering an active period of fencing, if not of negotiating, but not all of them are optimistic about the outlook. Some of them feel that Moscow is merely talking vaguely about new agreements on arms control, Vietnam, and the Middle East as a means of reversing the wave of critical publicity that followed the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. No doubt, according to this view, the Soviet leaders would be willing to talk about all these things in order to test the new Washington administration, but this is seen by some of our observers as a diplomatic tactic rather than any change in policy.

Similarly, China's proposal that the Nixon administration talk on Feb. 20 about "an agreement on the five principles of peaceful coexistence," while an interesting suggestion, probably forshadowing an invitation to Nixon to withdraw American military and diplomatic support from the Chinese Nationalist regime in Taiwan, and there is nothing in the President-elect's record that would indicate much sympathy for that.

Nevertheless, Nixon, like President Kennedy in the first few months of his term, will probably have a chance

Fair Taxation

Lincoln, Neb.

Some clear facts were left out of a letter to the editor (Charles Wilcox, Nov. 26) concerning taxes in Nebraska.

First, a tax bill was passed a year and a half ago with provisions of a 2½% sales tax rate until Jan. 1, 1969, and then a drop to 2%. The equalizing tax was to be the income tax section which was left open-end. Our State Board of Equalization reset the income tax rates at the same figure as before. They must have felt these tax rates were sufficient for our needs for the next two years because they, too, knew the sales tax rate would drop to 2% by law.

Now comes the situation whereby we as legislators are told that we won't have enough money to run our state government for the next two years unless we again raise the sales tax to 2½%. Some say we will have to go to 3% after the budget is approved in the upcoming session. This puts me and others in the position of asking whether we should raise the sales tax on bare necessities or whether maybe we should look at broadening the base into services which aren't as necessary or used as much by poorer people.

I stated before that although not wanting to introduce broadening legislation, I could support a bill which would in effect keep the rate lower. Common sense shows that this could be progressive taxation as many services are used entirely or to a higher degree by higher income families. As an example, would one rather pay four cents on a haircut or one cent more on each dollar's worth of food and clothing he needs?

People, rich or poor, in Nebraska are asking for more services and these cost money. My only concern is that the money needed to provide these services be fair taxation on all people in every income bracket.

Robert Kennedy

Cook, Neb.

In regard to The Star editorial, "Dallas Plus Five Years," whether much "Camelot" really existed is answered in the hearts of those of us who loved the Kennedy family.

Robert was called "ruthless" because he was one of the few who had the guts to stand up for what he believed in and to expose some of our big-time crooks. We never saw all the love and compassion that were in his heart spread all over the front page. Few of the good and humane services they have rendered and will continue to render are publicized. They are leaders in the field of mental retardation.

On Bobby's last trip to Nebraska, he took time out for an unscheduled stop to visit the children at the Beatrice State Home, carrying a small Mongoloid girl, his face pressed to hers. This is ruthless?

Maybe most have forgotten him already, but for those of us who haven't, let's stop the name-calling, especially when he can't defend himself. Please read "To Seek A Newer World" and then say this is a ruthless man.

He was love personified.

Leaf Removal

Lincoln, Neb.

If the city would consider doing a big favor for all homeowners in town, I have a suggestion that would seem to be practical and at not too much expense. Leaf-raking and disposal is one of the biggest chores and problems for the homeowner this time of year. There aren't many days when the wind isn't blowing to provide the right conditions to burn the leaves. And to have to sack them up to be hauled away is difficult.

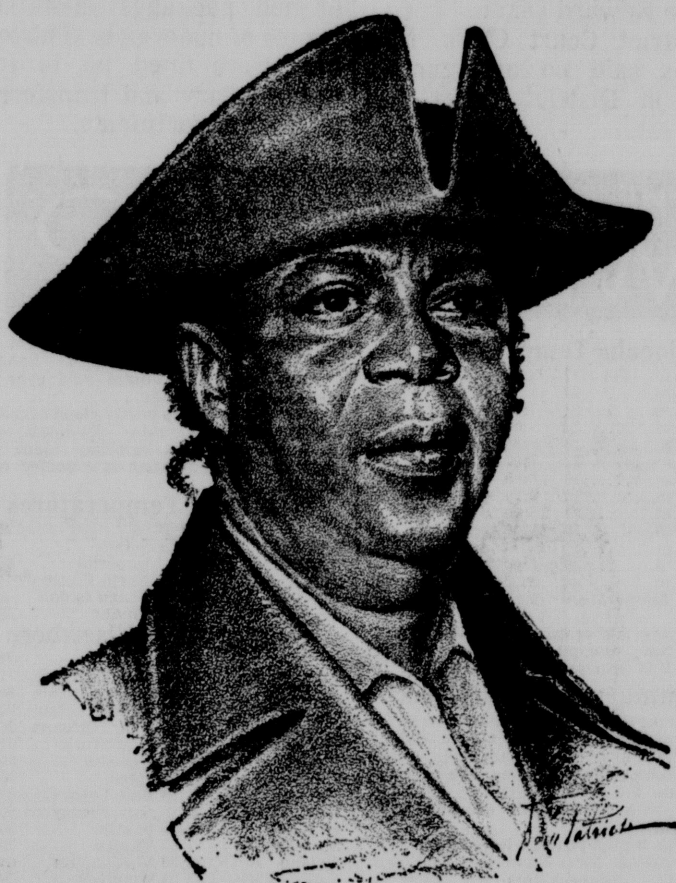

Why couldn't the city designate certain days and areas, as they do with tree spraying, when the individual could rake his leaves into the street and city trucks could come around and pick them all up at one time?

Speaking for this tired homeowner, I know I would appreciate the service.

JACK SISSON

They Had A Dream

Jack Sisson, a stocky, muscular Rhode Island militiaman, crashed into a general's bedroom and won himself a place in history. History noted the general, too, to the general's chagrin.

For what happened to Richard Prescott, a British major general, was a classic example of a bloody disgrace.

He was captured in his nightshirt, under the noses of his own soldiers, behind his own lines, and he was ignominiously marched in his bare feet to a waiting boat and whisked away with his troops being none the wiser. To make matters worse, it was the second capture of his ill-fated career.

The abduction of Prescott, one of the most celebrated capers of the Revolutionary War, was the inspiration of a Providence, R.I., hatter-turned-soldier, Lt. Col. William Barton.

Barton needed an enemy general, any general, to trade for American Maj. Gen. Charles Lee, then a British prisoner. He got his chance to grab one when Prescott moved to a summer house outside Newport, R.I., to escape the heat of the city.

Learning of the move, Barton hand-picked 35 men and four officers to pluck him off. Sisson was one of the first he chose. The husky Negro had been Barton's servant. Now he was a soldier — one of 5,000 Negroes who fought in the Revolution. And Barton knew he was brave and dependable.

The "commando" force pushed off in five whaleboats near Tivertown on Narragansett Bay on July 4, 1777. For the next six days they stealthily slipped south through heavy concentrations of British ships and troops encamped along the shore.

Reaching a cover near the general's house, Barton and his men sneaked ashore at night and discovered Prescott had entrusted his safety to a single sentry. They overpowered him.

Then Barton and Sisson burst into Prescott's house and charged up the stairs to the general's bolted bedroom door. Sisson coiled his powerful frame and splintered the door.

While Barton and Sisson stood by, the bewildered general slipped on his breeches and waistcoat — over his nightshirt — but he couldn't find his shoes.

He was forced to stumble barefooted across an open field to the boats which then slipped away as quietly as they had come.

The war had been going badly, and Barton's exploit had that comic quality which buoys flagging spirits.

The British chuckled, too, but they didn't chuckle when it came time to trade captured generals. Lee was Gen. George Washington's right-hand man.

DREW PEARSON

A Hotdog Hassle; New Ambassador

WASHINGTON — Rodney E. Leonard, boss of the Agriculture Department's consumer and marketing service, is tussling with one of the toughest problems he has ever faced — whether to reform that great American institution, the hotdog.

The poultry industry wants to put about 25 per cent chicken meat in it without changing the "frank" label. The beef cattle producers, like a herd of their own steers, are bellowing their opposition. The consumers will get their say at public hearings soon in Washington, Chicago, Denver and Atlanta.

It's a question that affects the whole nation, for more than 8.5 billion hotdogs are consumed annually in the U.S. Under present regulations, meat can be sold in interstate commerce as "frankfurters," "wieners," or "bologna" if they consist of pork, mutton, goat meat, fat and a maximum of 3½ per cent cereal or filler.

If chicken is included, the label — not just the fine print — must read "franks and chicken" or "chicken and hotdogs." As a result, poultry producers have been yelling discrimination for years.

Beef packers themselves are somewhat concerned because of the declining sources of protein for hotdogs. Slaughtered dairy cattle is now a principal source, because the meat is less tender than beef cattle and more adaptable to franks. But dairy herds have been declining steadily.

The British government definitely intends to go through with the appointment of John Freeman as the new ambassador to Washington, despite his criticism of President-elect Nixon.

As editor of the New Statesman from 1961 to 1965, Freeman repeatedly attacked Nixon as "a man of no principle" who "dirtied his hands in Joe McCarthy's cesspool" and whose defeat for the California governorship in 1962 was "a victory for decency in public life."

Both Nixon and Freeman have come a long way since those attacks. For the past three years, Freeman has served ably as the British high commissioner to India. The British have also kept up good relations with Nixon and have given him the red-carpet treatment on his visits to England.

Be Ye Thankful

The human is at his best when he prays . . . when he reaches up to the Divine. That's when time becomes part of eternity. As when the pilgrims were struggling to make a go of it and even more so, we need to pause, take stock and thank God. Gratitude is a high virtue. Our cause to praise God is great. Our fathers bequeathed us rich land, good example and sustaining ideals. We must not inherit one without the other. The generous harvest of every year is ours and His. And His is the larger part for God has always been at work. What have we done to merit such blessing? We should join the call to worship this Thanksgiving Day, in the church of our choice . . . Consider why we should prosper as no other people on earth, fall on our knees and speak loud our thanks to the God of all. Your own soul will be aglow and your Thanksgiving dinner will have more taste if you will first remember Him, and if you will feed and clothe some other person, in His Name. This stimulating fellowship with God and our fellows could make this our greatest Thanksgiving Day. Then, "Come, ye Thankful people, come, and raise the song of Thanksgiving."

Many Elders Become Bored With Luxurious Retirement Homes

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q.—“You must be crazy saying healthy older people are better off in their own homes and apartments than in homes for the aged offering complete care. I recently visited a church home that's the most gorgeous place you ever saw. Guests had full maid service and didn't even have to make their beds or empty their ash trays. They were served lovely meals in the dining room and spent their time playing cards and watching TV. How's that for good living?”

A.—Sounds pretty dismal to me. Visitors to impressive homes for the elderly are often carried away by the luxury and ease surrounding the guests. But interviews with many of these guests disclose that they quickly become bored with service and recreation, and yearn for duties and chores which might give them a sense of usefulness and purpose. Homes offering care are fine for elders who need care. But healthy oldsters thrive best in their own homes. Elders tend to wither when deprived of work and responsibilities to which they're accustomed.

Q.—“We're retired with a fair income, and want to start some kind of a business just to keep busy and in contact with others. We love cats and dogs, but the town's already got a boarding kennel for pets. We also love kids, but there's already a day nursery here. Any suggestions?”
A.—How about a pet shop? You'll enjoy stocking and caring for a wide variety of animals and birds, and if you make kids welcome you're sure to have plenty of youthful visitors. You might also develop a talk about the pets you handle, and make your services available as a speaker before local groups.

Q.—“I've heard that some cities pay folks to provide board and room to aged citizens. My children are grown and married and I live alone in a four-bedroom house. I'd like to take in some older people and supplement my income. Where can I inquire?”

A.—Ask your local welfare department if it sponsors a foster home program for aged relief recipients. Many cities have latched on to this plan because it not only saves the city money — since it costs less to shelter indigent oldsters in private homes than keep them in city institutions — but it also makes life more pleasant for older people themselves. The plan also provides a dependable source of income for responsible homeowners who enjoy caring for older folks.

Brides At Friday Weddings

Pyramid arrangements of white Fuji chrysanthemums appointed the chancel of Blessed Sacrament Church, Friday evening, Nov. 29, for the wedding of Miss Mary Josephine Sharrar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Sharrar, and Thomas Joseph Rodeno, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rodeno of Fairview, Pa. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Msgr. A. J. Kramer.

Miss Aurelea Sharrar of Denver, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Susan Steele, Omaha, Miss Cecile Rodeno, Fairview, Pa., Miss Susan Highland, Mrs. Joseph Buda and Mrs. Steven Bock, wore long, dirndl frocks of moire in pistachio.

Serving as best man was Christopher Rodeno of Cleveland, Ohio, and the groomsmen were Michael Rodeno, Fairview, Pa.; James Evans and Timothy Myslenski, Cleveland, Ohio; Joseph Buda and Michael Ziegler.

The bride's period gown was fashioned of duchess satin in antique white. Guipure lace edged the elbow sleeves and created the high throatline of the bodice, and the lace continued over the shoulders into vertical panels the length of the aisle-wide train. Her brief mantilla of illusion and lace was draped over a Renaissance cap of satin.

Mrs. Rodeno, who is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, from which the bridegroom will receive his degree in January.

For the marriage of Miss Catherine Butz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Butz of Hastings, to John K. Pershing, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Pershing, which was solemnized Friday afternoon, Nov. 29, bouquets of pink pompon chrysanthemums and purple stock appointed the altar of the First Presbyterian Church at Hastings.

Slender frocks of crepe and moire in raspberry pink were worn by Miss Barbara Doan of Omaha, the honor attendant, Mrs. Robert Butz, Jr., of Aurora, and Mrs. Scott Breeden, the bridesmaids, and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Dettelson, North Platte, and Miss Barbara Stevenson, Hastings.

Serving Mr. Pershing as best man was Richard Mousel of McCook, and the ushers were Robert Butz, Jr., Aurora; James Butz, Hastings; Rodney Ruzanic, Ogallala; Sidney Logemen, Holdrege; Dennis Goeschel and Stanley Maly, III.

Ivory silk faille fashioned the bride's gown which was designed in the princess mode. Venise lace in a floral pattern edged the jewel throatline and bordered the below-elbow sleeves of the slim gown, and the lace was repeated on the court train which continued to chapel length. A bandeau of lace petals held to the head her illusion veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Pershing, both seniors at the University of Nebraska, will live at 1328 E St. The bride is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, and Mr. Pershing's fraternity is Sigma Nu.

TOWN TALK

A welcome this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gish (Blossom Hilton) of Fort Worth, Tex., who arrived last Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving — plus several days — as the guests of Mrs. Gish's brother, and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Hilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gish, by the way are to be guests at the Holiday Club's dinner dance at the Lincoln Country Club this evening. Also on the party guest list is Mrs. Woodrow Magee.

Thanksgiving brought guests from Des Moines, Iowa, and Omaha to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cowney.

The visitors included Mrs. Cowney's mother, Mrs. R. J. Kestler of Des Moines; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. O'Keefe and Mrs. Marie Lennox, all of Omaha.

Now we hasten to news of an exceedingly popular bride-elect, Miss Vicki Packard, Miss Packard, a graduate of the University (Delta Gamma) now is careering at KOLN-TV in Lincoln. We're afraid, however, that the young careerist will be forced to ask for time off — You see, her marriage to John Lee Hallett is planned for Friday, Dec. 29, and between now and then there are courtesies galore.

As a matter of fact Miss Packard's party calendar had its beginning last Tuesday when Mrs. Ralph Smith was a luncheon hostess at the University Club.

And next week Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday are courtesy days.

The Wednesday party (Dec. 4) is to be a luncheon and a linen shower and the hostess will be Mrs. Paul Halpine who will be entertaining at the University Club.

Then comes Thursday — another luncheon and this time a miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Chauncey Barney and Mrs. Richard Kosman are to be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Barney.

That Saturday party we mentioned will be in Omaha where Mrs. Phil A. Kendall will compliment Miss Packard when she entertains at a luncheon and personal shower at her home.

Wedding Plans, Attendants Revealed

Miss Patty Pester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Pester, whose betrothal to Wayne L. Kennedy was revealed recently, has chosen Friday, Dec. 6, as the date for her wedding.

The ceremony will be solemnized at Trinity Chapel in Rokeby.

Mrs. Roger Hergenrader will attend Miss Pester as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Kerry Simonds and Mrs. Bruce Kennedy. Miss Charlene Gerdes of Auburn, will be the bridesmaid, and the flower girl will be Miss Pammy Pester and Miss Suzy Jo Hergenrader.

Lighting the chancel candles for the 7:30 o'clock ceremony will be Miss Diane Wolfe and Miss Shirley Pester.

Howard Wallensieck will serve Mr. Kennedy as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Les Pester, Kerry Simonds, Bruce Kennedy, Rod Phelps and Richard Bowlby. Joel Kennedy will be the ringbearer.

The bride-elect is a former coed at the University of Nebraska. Her fiancé, who is the son of Jack Kennedy and the late Mrs. Kennedy, attended the Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Milford and recently returned home from military duty in Vietnam.

THE GIRLS

Youthful NU Cagers Host Badgers Tonight In Opener

DEBUTING . . . Husker pivot Jim Brooks.

NEBRASKA	Pos.	WISCONSIN
Gratopp (6-5)	F	Johnson (6-5)
Bryan (6-5)	F	Nagle (6-5)
Brooks (6-4)	C	Mayberry (6-9)
Scantlebury (6-4)	G	Sherrod (6-1)
Stewart (6-3)	G	Burington (6-2)

Tipoff: 7:35 p.m., NU Coliseum.

Nebraska's Cornhuskers open their 1968-69 basketball season tonight at the NU Coliseum, hosting a veteran Wisconsin Badger team from the Big 10 Conference.

Game time for this sparkling inter-sectional opener is 7:35 p.m., with the Nebraska Frosh playing an intra-squad game, starting at 5:45 p.m.

Coach Joe Cipriano, starting his sixth season at Nebraska, will be shooting for a third-straight winning season and has high hopes for another exciting, action-type team that has thrilled Coliseum crowds the past three years.

However, the Huskers must buck the inexperience bugaboo in the early going since Cipriano doesn't have a senior on the squad. Joe has named only two lettermen to starting posts against the Badgers.

Bob Gratopp, junior forward, and Tom Scantlebury, junior guard, are the only veterans, but both saw starting service with last year's Husker club. Two transfers will be debuting for the Huskers — 6-8 center Jim Brooks, and 6-3 guard Marvin Stewart. The other NU starter will be sophomore Tom Bryan, who last year led the Husker Frosh in scoring.

"We are really looking forward to starting the season," Cipriano said. "The players have worked hard in fall camp and they're eager for game action."

Cipriano tabbed Wisconsin as a "tough opener with a typically big, strong and experienced Big 10 team."

The Badgers will feature four vets and one soph. Supplying tall front-line help will be 6-9 center Craig Mayberry, 6-8 forward Ted Voight and 6-5 forward James Johnson. While the Badger guards — Clarence Sherrod and Keith Burington — are small at 6-1, they have good speed, and Burington is a fine shooter.

Cipriano will have letterman bench strength in Ken Cauble, Sam Martin and Dale VonSeggern. And the Huskers are counting on help from Frosh grads like 6-8 Tim Allmond, 6-10 Bernard Brown, 6-7 Leroy Chalk and 6-1 Cliff Moller.

CAGE DISTRICTS CHANGED

City 'A' Teams Now Together

... 'D' DISTRICTS FEWER

A reduction in the number of Class D districts by half and all the Lincoln Class A schools in one grouping were the highlights of the district basketball assignments announced by the Nebraska School Activities Association.

In the past, 32 Class D districts have necessitated eight four-team area playoffs to determine the state tournament entries. With the reduction to 16 districts, the champions will now meet just one additional foe to qualify for the March classic.

With a drop in enrollment placing Lincoln Pius X in Class B, the four remaining Capital City teams have been placed in District A-1. In recent years the Lincoln schools have been divided in two districts, usually including Beatrice and two Omaha area teams.

Each of the Class A and Class B district winners will gain a berth in the state tournament. As in Class D, the 16 Class C champs will clash with another district titleholder to reduce the field to the magic number of eight.

DOANE LEADER . . . Larry Green.

—MINERAL WATER BOWL—

Tigers, Mules Battling Today

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Excelsior Springs, Mo. — Returning to the scene of one of the two ties on their current 28-game undefeated string, the Doane Tigers tackle the Central Missouri State Mules in the 20th annual Mineral Water Bowl football classic at 1 p.m. today, a game an NCAA rule could possibly decide.

This is Doane's second straight appearance here. Last year coach Al Papi's Tigers, led by quarterback Larry Green, tied William Jewell, Mo., 14-14, throwing away a 14-0 advantage. Concordia's 20-20 tie in the final game of the 1966 season is the only other time Doane has failed to win in its last 28 starts and that deadlock knocked the Tigers out of a probable bowl appearance that fall.

Central Missouri can't play six freshmen, five of whom were season-long starters and one who became a regular through an injury. This is in accordance with an NCAA rule which prohibits a school with more than 1,250 enrollment from playing frosh in post-season competition.

"This really hurt us as far as depth is concerned," Central coach Howard Mahanes says. "This is particularly true of our specialty teams." The depth factor is especially important against a team like Doane, which has more manpower than most foes and is a team that gets stronger as the game goes longer.

One of the missing frosh is Charles Ashley, an all-league linebacker, while the others were two defensive backs, a strong side guard, wingback and fullback, although four-year starter Doug Morelock had the latter spot nailed down until a mid-season injury sidelined him for the year.

Central has been building up to this year with 4-5 and 6-4 finishes in Mahanes' first two campaigns, and 11 seniors will be in the starting lineups for a club that finished 7-1-1 and was second in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

"We think we're a well-balanced offensive team," Mahanes points out: "we throw 25-30 passes a game and are able to move on the ground. And our defense has made breaks for us and gotten us good field position. Against Harding College (Arkansas) we intercepted seven passes and ran three back for touchdowns."

"I'm real proud of our pass defense. It's come along real well since a 41-1 tie with Emporia in the second game of the season, when they made only 61 yards rushing but had 400 passing and scored all their touchdowns through the air." Central has given up only 707 yards in the air all year, most of it in that one game.

But therein lies the key: can a defense which allowed 41 points in one game and 35 in another be able to stop a Doane offense which has averaged 457 yards and nearly 53 points a game?

Sophomore quarterback Steve Eckinger has thrown for 1,310 yards and tailback Larry Johnson has run for 601 yards for Central, while split end Clark Frost, voted the club's most valuable player by teammates, has 676 yards in receptions. The Mules use the I setup.

Mahanes also mentioned tight end Dennis Covey's blocking and the good play of offensive tackles Jim Urczyk and Mike Wunderly and defensive ends John Richardson and Herb Robinson as instrumental in this year's good season. Mahanes himself played for Northeastern, Okla., in the 1956 Mineral game.

Doane will be at full strength today, as flanker Clifford Smith's leg injury and linebacker Dick Held's bruised ribs, both sustained in late-season play, have healed completely. The Tigers 44-man squad worked out in Crete Thursday morning before taking a chartered bus here.

Central Missouri arrived here Thursday, also, and had a light workout.

Peterson Says 'Close' Good Enough At Loyola

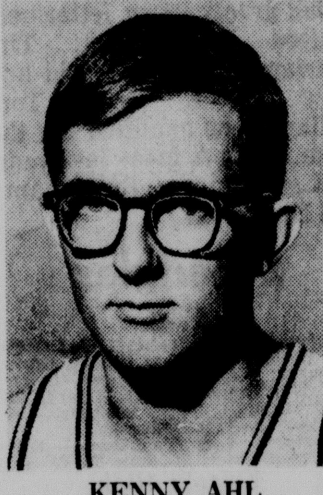

... NWU HITS 'BIG TIME' TONIGHT

NWU	Pos.	LOYOLA
J. Brown (6-5)	F	(6-3) Baumgartner
Strail (6-5)	F	(6-4) Cannon
Hahn (6-7)	C	(6-4) Fuller
Busch (5-9)	G	(6-6) Robertson
Ahl (5-10)	G	(6-6) Coleman

If they could just come close, coach Irv Peterson would be happy. So would the players.

That's the feeling among the Plainsmen as they travel to Chicago tonight to open their 1968-69 basketball season against the Loyola Ramblers, the first really "big-time" foe for NWU since DePaul in the days when Rudy Stoehr was playing.

"We know they're out of our class but it will give our kids a chance to play a big school," Peterson said after the Plainsmen wrapped up a Wednesday-morning workout, their last before enplaning for the Windy City Friday. The game was arranged about a year ago, he said. Loyola wanted to play in Lincoln on its way back from a Western trip but Wesleyan was booked up then.

As a note of comparison, Loyola walloped Augustana (S.D.), 125-79, in its opener a year ago enroute to a 15-9 season. Wesleyan visits Augustana in February.

The team Peterson is grooming this year should be a better-than-average outfit and exceed the past two 12-13 finishes. The front-line of 6-7 center Bob Hahn and 6-5 forwards John Brown and Ernie Strail will give NWU better work on the boards in contrast to last year, when Peterson went with three guards, Bob Vasatka, Kim Busch and Kenny Ahl, for scoring punch.

Busch and Ahl are in the backcourt again and join Hahn for the third straight years as starters and fourth as teammates.

Wesleyan was one of the highest-scoring college teams in the state a year ago with an 86.6 average, so should score well again, but Peterson expects the defense to be improved, too. Last year the Plainsmen surrendered exactly the same number of points they scored themselves over a 25-game span, a difficult feat.

The remainder of the 12-man traveling squad includes Tom Brown, Rick Boals, Bruce Oberhelman, Bob Beecham, Mike Zimmerman, Walter Zink and Steve Peterson.

Both John Brown and Strail are transfers from the University of Nebraska, while Beecham is a freshman from Palmyra. The others were all either lettermen, squadmen or frosh a year ago.

George Ireland's Loyola Ramblers, NCAA champs in 1963 and traditionally a fast-breaking club, are not expected to be a national power but do return two starters, 5-11 Walt Robertson (13.7 average) and 6-3 Wade Fuller (11.2). Tom Coleman (6-1) is up from the frosh, where he averaged 27.1.

York Cagers Win Two In Fairbury JC Meet

Fairbury (AP) — Norfolk and York emerged here Friday afternoon with first-round victories in the Fairbury Junior College Pre-Season Basketball Tournament.

Norfolk capitalized on the rebounding and shooting of 6-9 Merlin Renner and 6-6 Keith Williams to down North Platte 85-72. York survived an overtime on John Hamm's 20-foot jumper with two seconds left to beat Fairbury 113-112. North Platte's Sheddick Bell had 21.

In the opening contest Tenner grabbed 20 rebounds and made 15 points, while Williams tossed in 26 points and collected 24 rebounds to lead the winners.

In the second game, York and Fairbury were tied 101-101 at the end of regulation time. York had trailed by three with 15 seconds left in the extra period, but then scored two before Hamm stole the ball and made the winning tally. Ken Ware was high for the winners with 31 points. Fairbury's Ben Brown had 37 and Ernie Britt hit for 33.

In the evening session, Norfolk fell to McCook 83-69 and York picked up its second victory of the day by defeating Nebraska Western 90-75.

McCook took the lead early in the game and never trailed following the first two minutes. Barry Driscoll set the pace for the winners with 25. Ron Moore was high for Norfolk with 18.

Greg Franz and Slim Goodman, hitting 23 and 21, respectively engineered York to its second win. Western Nebraska's Scott Jones had 19 to pace the losers.

USC Tries To Regain Top Spot Against Notre Dame

By Associated Press
Southern California, itching to regain No. 1 status, bumps into a Notre Dame team with a mission Saturday in a game that shares national billing with Army-Navy on the final big Saturday of the college football season.

The Trojans, unbeaten in nine games and already assured of the host role against Ohio State, the No. 1 team, in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, must get past the Irish, 7-2, whose title hopes were dashed by Purdue and Michigan State. A crowd of 75,000 is expected at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Army is a two-touchdown favorite over Navy in the 69th renewal of their fierce service rivalry to be watched by the usual sellout crowd of 100,000 at John F. Kennedy Stadium in Philadelphia. However, the Cadets hold only a slim 32-30-6 edge in the series and remember their 19-14 upset by Navy last year.

The Army-Navy game will be seen on national television over the American Broadcasting Company at 12:15 p.m. CST. It will be followed by the Notre Dame-USC game at 3:30 p.m. CST.

Nine of the top 20 teams in the most recent Associated Press poll will be active, seven of whom already have been tapped for bowl games later.

The only pairings of teams in the higher echelon of the poll are USC (2) vs. Notre Dame (9), Alabama (15) vs. Auburn (18), and Arizona (19) vs. Arizona State (20). Georgia (4) will be at home to unranked Georgia Tech, Tennessee (7) will be at unranked Vanderbilt and Oklahoma (11) at unranked Oklahoma State.

Other top games on the Saturday program include the 65th round of the Holy Cross-Boston College rivalry.

Miami, Fla. at Florida, Rice at Baylor, Brigham Young at San Jose St., California at Hawaii, Coast Guard Academy-Penn. Military at Atlantic City, N.J. Mississippi State at Mississippi, and Memphis State at Louisville.

Two postseason games are on the Saturday program. In the Mineral Water Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo. it will be Central Missouri State vs. Doane, Neb. And in the NAIA semifinal at Kingsport, Tenn., Texas A&I will face Northern South Dakota State.

Notre Dame will be without injured Terry Hanratty, its top quarterback, so the pressure will be on Joe Theismann, a sophomore, the running of Bob Gladioux and the catching of Jim Seymour.

Southern California's attack, of course, is built around O. J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner, the passing of Steve Sogge and the Trojans' fine offensive line.

Favored Army is directed by quarterback Steve Lindell, rolling out and throwing to tight end Gary Steele or handing off to fullback Charlie Jarvis. Navy is guided by a sophomore quarterback of promise, Mike McNallen. The Army goes in with a 6-3 record, Navy with 2-7.

The annual war between Alabama and Auburn, to be played at Birmingham, takes on added stature because Alabama, 7-2, already has been picked to play Missouri in the Gator Bowl, Dec. 28 at Jacksonville, Fla. and Auburn, 6-3, will be playing Arizona in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. on the same day.

Arizona, 8-1, is headed for that date with Auburn at El Paso. Arizona State 7-2, would like nothing better than to knock off its home state rival.

High-ranked Georgia, 7-0-2, which will play Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl, Jan. 1 is heavily favored over Georgia Tech, 4-5, in their traditional clash.

Tennessee, 7-1-1 already paired with Texas in the Cotton Bowl, can't afford to let up against its old rival, Vanderbilt, 5-3-1. It is the same story for Oklahoma, 6-3, against Oklahoma State, 3-6.

The Sooners will play Southern Methodist Dec. 31 in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Mississippi, 6-3, won't have too much time after its neighborhood battle with Mississippi State 0-8-1 before it faces Virginia Tech in the Liberty Bowl, Dec. 14 at Memphis, Tenn.

Jays Test Wichita Tonight

... CREIGHTON DEBUTS WITH PORTMAN, ANDERZUNAS

Omaha — Two teams looking for good years after disappointing 1967 seasons will open the 1968 cage campaign at Omaha Civic Auditorium tonight when the Creighton Bluejays. Tip-off is 8 p.m.

Both CU coach Red McManus and Shocker mentor Gary Thompson are cautiously optimistic about chances this season. The Jays, with the whole load being carried by All-America candidate Bob Portman, finished 8-17 a year ago. WSU, suffering its first losing season in 16, was 12-14.

Creighton figures to have the two finest athletes on the floor in Portman, the nation's fifth-leading scorer as a junior with a 29.5 average, and Wally Anderzunas, returning after a year's lay-off. McManus rates his cornermen "as good as any you'll find in college ball this year."

Wichita State, however, will have experience in its favor with an all-lettered starting unit. Only question is Dave Skinner, 6-10 center, who may play with a face mask guarding a nose broken in practice two weeks ago. The Shockers also have great backcourt speed and shooting talent in Greg Carney and Ron Mendell.

McManus is confident that veteran Dave Hickey, fully recovered from an ankle injury which kept him on the sidelines the first half of 1967, will be able to handle the famed WSU press. Dribble-master Hickey plays the point in McManus' double-post offense.

CU's middle men, a weak spot when the Jays were outsized consistently in 1967, still must be labeled as unknown factors as the 1968 season starts. Transfer Joe Bergman has the size and agility but may be slowed by a slightly turned ankle. JC grad John Watts had a disappointing freshman varsity game but McManus is confident he'll be ready for better things tonight.

If either should falter, senior Steve Jansa, 6-7, is ready to move in. JC grad Dan Thornton, a slim 6-7 lad who stood out in a relief role against the frosh, also is ready. The guard situation looks strong. Hickey is a two-year letterman with plenty of savvy. Mike Caruso, 5-10 and quick as a mouse, can spell the Kentucky Irishman or move in on a 2-3 offense. Dependable Jack Ketterer, 6-0, and scrappy rookie Frank Hogan, 6-0, also are ready.

Wichita State holds a 12-6 margin in a series dating to postwar 1945 when the Shockers took 33-32 and 61-47 wins. The teams have split their last meetings, both at the WSU Roundhouse. The Shockers eliminated CU from NCAA tournament competition in 1964 with an 84-63 victory. CU got a small measure of revenge with a 91-88 upset two years ago — the first time in six years a non-conference foe had dumped WSU at home.

Owens Won't Get Ulcers From '68-'69 KU Cagers

... AT LEAST NOT FOR AWHILE

One of a Series
It isn't exactly a "put off until tomorrow what you'd rather not do today" theory Kansas basketball coach Ted Owens is working on this year, but he's relaxing while other Big Eight coaches feverishly go about December rebuilding chores. Owens doesn't have to worry until February, some 18 games into the season.

Then there's a giant hole to be filled when Jo Jo White, the slick veteran of Big Eight and Olympic backcourt wars, hangs up his shoes.
At present his only worries are fitting a talented crop of freshmen into the veteran laden squad which finished second in the Big Eight and went on to a runnerup finish in the NIT tournament a year ago.
Only hands missing from the club are Roger Bohnenstiehl, last year's No. 2 scorer and rebounder, and Vernon Vano, who saw only token action a year ago after switching his emphasis to football.

Owens plans a slight revision in the offensive plans this year. "We hope to play only two big men and have three for speed and quickness," he says.
The Jayhawks have a wealth of material in both categories with eight veterans returning from the 22-8 team of a year ago and six rookies moving up from an unbeaten freshman team.

Considering that 6-9 Dave Robisch, who led the frosh in scoring with a 26.5 average last year, and 6-10 Dave Nash, who led the varsity in rebounding, are running third and fourth, respectively, in the battle for the two "big" positions, it appears the Jayhawks are well fortified up front.

Heading the list in the pre-season drills has been 6-10 sophomore Roger Brown. "He's made more improvement than anybody on the squad and has been by far our leading rebounder in scrimmages," says Owens.

Teaming with him will be Greg Douglas, the 6-8 junior who averaged 4.5 points in his initial campaign.

White will again run the attack with 6-3 Rich Bradshaw and 6-5 Bruce Sloan filling the other "little" positions.

Owens regards both Bradshaw, a junior, and Sloan, a senior, as having made "tremendous progress" in shooting since the 1967-68 campaign.

Sophomore Pierre Russell (6-3) and senior Phil Harmon (6-4) are challenging Bradshaw and Sloan for starting berths.

What happens when White, who led Kansas in scoring a year ago, departs with eight games left on the schedule?

Owens hopes to bring 6-2 junior college transfer Tim Natus along slowly and have him ready to step in in February. "We're hopeful he'll come along," says Owens.

If he doesn't, Bradshaw is the likely replacement as floor general.

McLain Has Operation

Detroit — Denny McLain, the Detroit Tigers' 31-game winning pitcher, underwent an appendectomy at Ford Hospital Friday afternoon. He complained of stomach pains during a visit to Tiger Stadium earlier in the day.

Tiger officials said McLain, who signed his 1969 contract earlier this week for an estimated $85,000, had dropped into the Tiger front office for a chat with General Manager Jim Campbell.

When McLain said he was having stomach pains, the Tigers summoned team physician, Dr. Clarence Livingston, who sent the American League's winningest pitcher of last season to the hospital where tests indicated need for surgery.

Heart Pin Meet Set Next Week

Bowlers in Lincoln will have an opportunity to "score a strike against heart disease" next week during Heart Bowling Week.

The program, sponsored jointly by the Heart Association and the Bowling Proprietors' Association, will have a one dollar entry fee per person with 70 cents going to the Heart Fund and 30 cents for prizes. Scores will be based on regular league play for three-game series with each league determining its own handicap and prize distribution.

For the first time, a sportsmanship trophy will be presented to the bowler who displays best a sportsmanlike attitude. The trophy will be presented in memory of Ren Settell, outstanding Lincoln bowler, who recently died following a second heart attack.

Mel Counts Sparks LA Win Over Celts

... WEST OUT WITH FLU

Boston — The Los Angeles Lakers, sparked by towering Mel Counts, staged a dramatic second half comeback to jolt the Boston Celtics 93-92 Friday night before a packed crowd of 14,929, the largest Boston Garden turnout in National Basketball Association history.

Counts, a former Celtic, took control of the boards and then scored seven of his nine points in the fourth period. His shot from the key with less than a minute remaining put the Lakers in front to stay.

Elgin Baylor blocked a shot and scored on a layup before Boston's Bailey Howell cashed a pair of free throws. The Celtics last chance was ruined when Larry Siegfried was called for travelling with four seconds left.

The Celtics stormed to a 58-44 halftime lead, but then cooled off and managed to hit on just two of 18 field goal attempts while scoring 10 points in a nightmarish fourth period.

Works Of Local Artists Exhibited At Guild Show

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

Works by local artists are up for scrutiny and bids in an exhibit by the Lincoln Artists' Guild at the Lincoln Hotel, 147 No. 9th St.

The show, which began Nov. 24, includes about 180 pieces displayed on the hotel mezzanine, and will end with a 2 p.m. auction Sunday.

A wide range of media, subjects and costs are represented in the show, which, according to chairman Bob Perry is "much superior" to last year's in both quality and quantity.

Included in the display are oil, watercolor, and acrylic paintings; ink and charcoal drawings; plastic, styrofoam, crochet thread, and newsprint collages; and a few samples of sculpture and ceramics.

Most of the displays are landscape paintings, although a few undertake to record the artists' individual impressions and more subjective responses to their subjects.

Visitors interested in purchasing one of the pieces may submit pre-auction bids on the favorites which will then be placed on the auction block Sunday. Open bidding will begin at the highest submitted bid.

Minimum prices for the works are listed from $5 to $150.

Among the more unique paintings is one by Shirley Martin of a church painted on a weathered barn door bearing the imprint of rusted-off hinges.

Chairman-exhibitor Perry, whose wife and daughter also have works in the show, said that last year's auction netted about $1,500 and that this year's looks even more promising.

He said that it is important for the public to realize that most of the exhibitors are amateurs and to judge them as such.

"After you've painted for awhile," he said, "you have to stick it up somewhere and hope that someone will like it."

Omaha Files Suit To Recover State Funds

The School District of Omaha filed a suit in Lancaster District Court Friday seeking reversal of a State Board of Education order denying the district its application for waiver of the limitation provision of the School Foundation and Equalization Act passed by the 1967 Legislature.

Judge Bartlett Boyles issued a temporary restraining order and set 2 p.m. Dec. 4 for hearing.

At the hearing defendants will be required to show cause why they should not be enjoined from paying out and why they should not be required to put in escrow sufficient funds appropriated by the Legislature to pay the district that amount to which it would be entitled if the order were reversed.

According to the petition, the district filed its application for state aid and was entitled to $5,661,999 as estimated by the state board.

The plaintiff district contends that since this amount exceeds the maximums permitted without special waiver by the state board, it made application for waiver of the so-called "Section 12 limitation."

However, the district alleges that after a hearing upon the application for waiver, the state board denied and overruled it on grounds that its case was not considered to be an "undue hardship" case under requirements of the provision.

The plaintiff district alleges that the state board erred in its finding in that it was based upon an "erroneous interpretation of the previsions of the Section 12 limitation."

According to the petition, the order was also based upon an erroneous legal standard for the determination of the existence of circumstances justifying relief from the limitation, and that the board's determination that the district would not suffer undue hardship was against the weight of evidence.

3 Face Charges In Raid On House By Lincoln Police

Three persons were charged in Lancaster County Court Friday in connection with the Wednesday night police raid of an alleged house of prostitution at 604 No. 23rd.

Lucius Pearson, 50, of that address, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to District Court on a felony charge of pandering, which carries a penalty of from one to ten years.

Pearson was specifically charged with procuring a female inmate for a place where prostitution is practiced and allowed.

Two women, one 21, and the other 26, both arrested at the same time, were each charged with vagrancy. Each pleaded innocent and trial was set for Dec. 20 by Judge Ralph Slocum.

Kenny O'Donnell was not certain that they were going to be able to steal the body of the President, and urged Vernon Oneal to hurry. The mortician asked if they were going to the mortuary. Secret Service men said yes! yes!

At the emergency overhang Roy Kellerman ordered Agent Andy Berger to take the wheel of the ambulance. Oneal wanted to know why he was not going to drive his hearse, and was told to stand aside.

Mrs. Kennedy insisted on being in the back "beside my husband." Doctor Burkley helped her in. Clint Hill joined them and secured the door.

Roy Kellerman ran to tell O'Donnell and O'Brien to take the next car and, privately, head for Love Field. He got on the radio to tell agents at Love Field to let an ambulance and one following car through the fence, then lock up the place. Colonel Swindal was to be ready to take off at once.

Then President Johnson received a phone call from Assistant Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach with the wording to the oath of office to be typed by a secretary. The President happened to look at the TV and hear an announcement that the Dallas Police Department had just arrested the suspected assassin.

Mr. Johnson thought of Federal Judge Sarah Hughes, a Kennedy appointee, got her on the phone, explained the situation, and offered to send Secret Service agents for her. The judge declined the escort, and promised to be there in ten minutes.

An ambulance with red blinker entered the airport, followed by two cars, all at high speed. A third car was stopped short of the fence by the lawmen. Vernon Oneal got out to protest. It was his ambulance. The President was in an Oneal casket. The Secret Service men told him the ambulance would be returned. (Oneal was to send bills for $3,900 to the family and eventually receive a government agency check for $3,400.) A rear door of Air Force One opened for Secret Service men to lift the casket inside.

All the Kennedy people were taking places on the aircraft they had arrived on. Larry O'Brien looked up to see the President and Mrs. Johnson coming down the aisle from the private stateroom. He was flabbergasted. When the Johnsons moved over to the breakfast nook, Mrs. Kennedy looked up and emerged from her reverie.

There can be no doubt that she was surprised to see them aboard this aircraft, not number two. It is understandable if she felt resentful, because the trip home to Washington would normally be a "wake," a private mourning.

But she took Mrs. Johnson's hand in hers. "Oh, Lady Bird," she said. "It's good that we've always liked you two so much."

Mrs. Johnson began to weep again. "Oh, Mrs. Kennedy," she said. "You know we never even wanted to be Vice President and now, dear God, it's come to this."

Johnson sent Youngblood for Kilduff. "Do we have to have the press in here?" he said. Kilduff had a press pool aboard: Merriman Smith and Charles Roberts. "Yes, Mr. President. Also Captain Stoughton should make pictures."

The President summoned O'Donnell and O'Brien. "I talked to Bobby and Katzenbach," Johnson said. "They think I should be sworn in right here. Judge Hughes should be here any minute." They watched Cecil Stoughton fixing up his cameras in the stateroom. "I would like you fellows to stay, to stand shoulder to shoulder with me," Johnson said. The Kennedy assistants did not commit themselves.

When Judge Sarah Hughes was taken into Air Force One, the President grasped her hand and said, "Thank you for coming, judge. We'll be ready in a minute." He told Larry O'Brien someone should ask Mrs. Kennedy if she would stand beside him during the ceremony. The President said he would also need a Bible.

Mrs. Kennedy was inside a lavatory, alone. Whether she knew what was expected of her and was trying to avoid it, or whether the depression of spirit led to nausea, is uncertain. O'Brien asked Evelyn Lincoln, Mr. Kennedy's personal secretary, to see if she could get Mrs. Kennedy's attention. Looking around, O'Brien found a box: with what he thought was a Bible. It was a missal — the prayers of the Roman Catholic Mass in both Latin and English. It was handed to the judge with the typed words of the oath.

Mrs. Kennedy stepped timidly into the room. The President grasped both her hands in his and whispered, "Thank you." He nodded for the ceremony to start. Mrs. Johnson was on one side of the President; Mrs. Kennedy, still in bloody gloves and garments, on the other, as he took the oath.

Some pushed forward to give him a hearty handshake. President Johnson turned a stern expression on them; the bud of conviviality was crushed. Chief of Police Curry took Judge Sarah Hughes by the arms to leave with her. "God bless you, little lady," he said to Mrs. Kennedy, "but you ought to go back and lie down." Mrs. Kennedy summoned a smile. "No thanks," she said. "I'm fine."

The President said: "Let's get airborne."

Cornelius Won't Investigate Food Stamp Program Suit

By United Press International
State Technical Assistance Director Samuel J. Cornelius said Friday he does not plan an investigation into the lawsuit against the federal food stamp program.

Robert Shestak, Saline County welfare director, earlier had called for an investigation into the matter because some Saline County residents had their names included in the lawsuit without their permission.

Cornelius said he had talked with Robert Gerdes, director of the Blue Valley Community Action Agency, which had helped in the lawsuit and was satisfied he had acted in "good faith."

Cornelius said Shestak's remarks about the Blue Valley Community Action Agency are "completely inappropriate."

"They have issued public apologies and this is sufficient," said Cornelius.

The lawsuit asks that the federal government remove the residency requirement for eligibility in the food stamp program. It is part of a nationwide movement to eliminate the restriction.

Cornelius said the restriction should be removed because it doesn't give all citizens "due process and equal protection of the law."

Meet Star Carrier Dave Ratkovec

There is nothing like earning one's own money to make a guy feel independent. And Dave Ratkovec of Valparaiso thoroughly enjoys that feeling.

DAVE RATKOVEC
Feels Independent

Dave has been a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star for more than a year and he has been able to save $128 toward his future education besides buying a bicycle and some clothes during that time.

A student at St. Mary's Catholic School, Dave is a member of the school band.

Dave also plays the accordion, collects rocks and builds model cars in his spare time.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Ratkovec, feel that having a paper route has helped their son to assume responsibility and to understand the value of money.

Young men interested in becoming carrier salesmen for The Lincoln Star should contact the State Carrier Dept., The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb. 68501.
